The Spirit

1962

Bunker Hill High School
Bunker Hill, Indiana

We Grow in

Foreword

If a school is to maintain spirit it must grow. Expansion at Bunker Hill High School has been twofold; growth in size and in stature. It is the aim of the "Spirit"-'62 staff to show not only the physical aspect of B.H.S., but also to show how the school is maturing and making its presence known near and far. The "Spirit"-'62 has expanded to keep in stride with the school's progress by the introduction of color. We hope you enjoy this annual and when through reviewing the year 1961-1962, that you are as proud to have been a part of it as we, the staff, have been.

Size and Stature

With searching eyes, Mrs. Wibel looks for errors in painting techniques.

With the enrollment of Bunker Hill High School increasing at a rapid rate, more modern equipment was needed to keep up with the student demands. Many new types of art equipment have been purchased to complete a new, modern, art workshop, and much needed shop equipment has been made available to augment the industrial-arts course. Now, students can learn how to operate circle-saws, band-saws, welders, metal-saws and other types of tools that are used in modern workshops everywhere.

Mr. Livergood shows Steve Oldfather and Denny Gahs how to use a new bench-saw.

Came Knowledge

Pam Munro carefully tests a tasty recipe.

The Sunshine Society entertained at the open house.

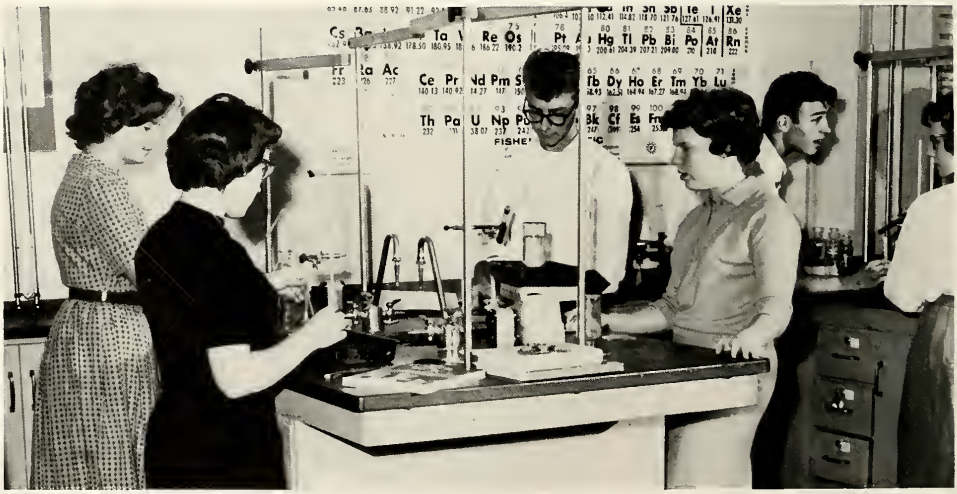
Study, alone, is not enough for the well balanced education. Students must practice what they learn and have the chance to show their progress to the viewing public.

Mr. Helms not only instructs seniors in the mechanics of good government, but the trip to the State Legislature shows government in action.

We Learn by Doing and

The excellent showing made by B.H.S. students in the Regional Achievement Examinations at Kokomo and the Achievement Finals at Bloomington was not mere luck. Only by long hours of study and research can an accomplishment such as this be attained. If after library study and lab research, answers still have not been found, advice is always available in the guidance facilities of the school office.

TOP—Library research is a necessity.
BOTTOM—We are proud of our Bloomington achievement contestants, Auroro Brown, Pat Monismith, Kenny Seiler, John Ketchum, and David Tillett.



Chemistry lab teams do many interesting experiments. Virginia Stephenson, Georgia Clinkenbeard, Steve Marquis, and Drusella DeHart carefully observe an experiment's results. In the background, Norwin Hansard and Nancy Ross try to decide whether to run or not.

Advice Is Always Available

Deciding which vocation has the greatest potential takes much time and counseling. John McKee tries to find some of the answers to this decision from Mr. Fulford's vocational file.

Physically and Mentally

Remember walking in the hall outside Mrs. Hammand's typing class and hearing the machine-gun sound of typewriters operated by students during a speed test? How about listening to Mrs. Holmes' Latin class trying to conjugate those pesky irregular verbs? These are all familiar sounds to the halls of B.H.S., but this year a new sound was heard outside the school halls. Before school started, boys were practicing in preparation for the first B.H.S. football schedule in the school's history. The sound of pads and helmets banging against each other told everyone that something new was entering the school athletic program.

Who said we don't have aches and pains?

If nothing else, it sure makes you concentrate!

Rosemari explains to other Latin students why her word order is correct.

Social Activities Are a

The year 1961-1962 proved to be an outstanding one socially. The Junior-Senior Prom, held at the Bunker Hill Air Force Base, was a dance that no one will forget. Our class plays were highly successful in bringing "Broadway" to the public, in addition to the Halloween Carnival bringing the public to B.H.S. The Sunshine Society sponsored its annual dance, and something new was added to the social calendar when the "Spirit" sponsored its first Annual Queen. All of these events found the Bunker Hill Air Force Base always willing to lend a helping hand. The better our social activities become, the higher our stature grows.

Part of Our Growth

As elected by the student body, the queen, Mary Ann Baskin, and her court, Sharran Young, Cheryl Moon, Jackie Crane, and Marna Schmidt.

"Who, me?"

The "Spirit" staff gave B.H.S. another "first" with the inauguration of the Annual Queen. After the Senior Class nominated twelve girls, a short campaign was started to help all students decide which one in their opinion was the most outstanding. After all ballots were tallied the winner was Mary Ann Baskin. Her court consisted of the four top finalists.

The staff feels that you will agree with us when we say B.H.S. has more than its share of attractive coeds.

With the facilities made available by the Bunker Hill Air Force Base, the Prom atmosphere made everybody want to dance.

Visitors enjoyed viewing student accomplishments at Open House.

Put Our Best Foot Forward

When it came time to show off our school, the Sunshine Society served a buffet and guided visitors about the school. Their ability to make everyone feel at home was appreciated.

The Junior-Senior Prom afforded us the opportunity to wear our formal attire and welcome many outstanding visitors. The dance was enjoyed not only by the students, but also by the faculty, Superintendent and Mrs. Geyer, the Trustee and Mrs. Wibel, Col. and Mrs. Vincent Crane, and Col. and Mrs. Edwin Turner.

The ultra-modern kitchen amazed many guests.

The entire cast takes a bow.

"O Lord, give us strength"

A play high in dramatics.

In contrast to "You Can't Take It With You," the Junior class presented the very dramatic story of Peter Marshall. It was very well done and the cast proved that high school students can do serious acting as well as comedy.

M. Comerford, S. Beane, K. Bonewell, S. Brock, L. Cox, D. VanSickle, and S. Fisher helped the Sophomore "Gay Nineties" extravaganza.

One of the big successes on the social calendar was the Halloween Carnival. Not only did the students take an active part, but parents as well gave their time to help make it a success. The Junior "Expresso" and the Sophomore "Gay Nineties" rooms were really successful. We all thought the National Honor Society and their mock court gave everyone a good laugh with the fines and jail sentences.

Everybody danced around Cupid.

Cupid took his toll.

The brightest affair of the winter season was the Sunshine Society's Valentine Formal. The girls in this organization worked long hard hours to decorate the dance floor, and they even had a photographer that took colored pictures. Everyone likes to have the opportunity to dress formally once in a while and this dance gave us that chance.

Activities Are a Part of Learning to take part in extra-curricular activities has been an important part of our four years education at BHHS.

One of the most important activities a student could take part in was the Student Council. Not only did these people learn something of student government, but they became familiar with the problems that sometimes face school administrators.

The many activities we participated in will not soon be forgotten. Whether it was being a member of the band or a member of the Sunshine Society, we gained something we will never lose.

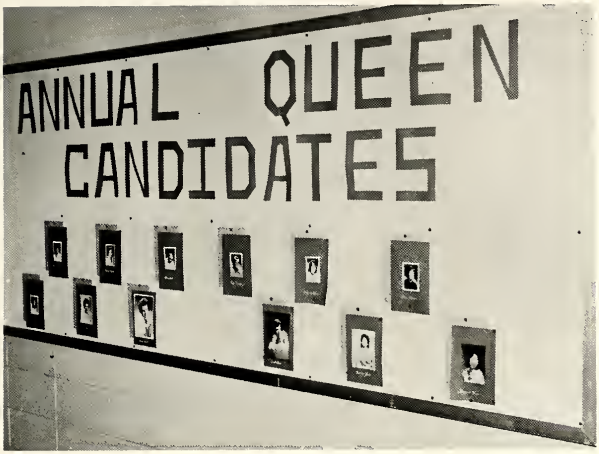
The 1962 Minuteman Staff

There was always a mad rush to buy a school paper. The paper came out once a month and in it the student could find out all the latest that had been happening around the school: The sports events, the gossip, and the general class news.

Under Mrs. Hammond's guidance the staff continually published better and better editions. When sixth period came around and the sale of papers started, everything was always read with great interest and enthusiasm, sometimes to the great concern of the teacher trying to give a lecture.

Deadline! Deadline! Deadline!



The campaign started here!

Gathering material, writing articles, setting up copy sheets, arranging pictures, schedules, and taking care of the loose ends at that last minute before deadline were some of the jobs done by the year book staff and their sponsor, Mr. McElheny. There were ads to be sold and the staff wants to thank all those seniors who gave their time to get this job done.

Three hundred and fifty-five yearbooks were sold.

The biggest job, in addition to those already mentioned, was getting the contest for Annual Queen initiated. Ballots had to be printed and then after the ballots were cast all had to be tabulated.

To help create interest the girls competing placed their pictures on the bulletin Board.

Many hours of hard work were devoted by the staff. The book soon began to take shape and one by one the deadlines were met until the end product was out of our hands.

Bunker Hill High School's

One of the many sources of pride we had this year was in our marching band. The students who participated in this organization gave many hours of practice and rehearsal time to make all their performances good ones.

Mr. Moon, the band director, has worked long hours planning the new formations that were needed for use in the wide expanse of our new football field. When we were nice and warm in the bleachers, the band never flinched at the cold wind and mud, but went ahead and performed with great enthusiasm. Our band once again competed in the Circus City Festival and the marching contest at the Indiana State Fair. Both times the band came away recognized as one of the finest organizations in the competition.

We also were very proud of our music department for hosting the NISOVA contest where approximately twelve hundred high school and junior high students took part in the competition. This year saw the introduction of the Pep Band, a group that really livened things up at the basketball games.

Drum Majorettes

Our drum majorettes this year were really outstanding. Everyone liked to watch the girls twirl their batons and lead the band out onto the football field.

Mr. Moon deserves a lot of credit for his time and patience in setting up all the formations the girls used.

Band Parents

Behind every high school music organization stand the parents. Always ready to make costumes, transport instruments, or take part in a fund raising campaign, the parents play a very important role in the success of any band. We never do realize how much effort is put into a band by our parents.

An Athletic Program to

Any time there was a basketball game, baseball game, or track meet, the office was always jammed with students trying to buy their tickets ahead of time and save forty cents. Bunker Hill's bleachers were always well filled at home and away.

The increased interest in athletics led to the introduction of football in our athletic program. Under the leadership of Coach Stone and his staff, our first football team played each game as if they had known the game most of their lives.

Coach Helms' basketball team, although supposedly in a rebuilding year, according to some newspapers was to be a much weaker team than the previous year's squad. However, much to the delight of BHS fans everywhere the 1961-1962 edition of Minutemen cagers proved what desire, practice, and determination can do. Who will ever forget those last-minute, breath-taking victories.

Match Our Growth

Football Begins New Era

Bill Reagan and Mike Rinehart get last minute instructions.

If there is anything that gets an athletic season off to a good start, it is a winning team. Coach Stone's football squad, made up almost entirely of underclassmen, really showed the fans that there are many bright days ahead. The team ran over all its opponents, with the exception of Whites' Institute, easily.

With a tougher schedule next year, the team gained valuable experience and is "rarin to go!"

Coach Stone wonders if they are ready.

Action Was Fast and Rough!

Mike found out it was not all fun.

One of the bright spots in the football season was the lack of any serious injuries. Some of the boys received sprains, twists, and Mike Rinehart got his tongue split, but there were no major hospital cases. This is evidence that the boys were in pretty good physical condition for their first taste of football.

Almost a touchdown!

That We Had a Long Way to Go.

With five wins and one loss as our first season's record, we looked back on those games and decided that not only by score alone was Whites' our toughest opponent.

The team learned how to play defense against their next opponents as the scores prove. Also, our offense picked up and jelled into a unit.

When the team became a unit, everything worked right. Blocks were made at the right times, the backs ran harder, and everybody tackled like they meant it.

Coach Helms Had to Rebuild

Coach Helms tries to get the team going again.

No matter what the weather was outside, whenever the BHHS Minutemen played basketball inside, it was hot! The team did not go undefeated, but always managed to surprise the opponent with some new pattern at just the right moment to squeek out some of those last-minute victories.

Coach Helms had to rebuild after graduation which cut his ranks pretty thin, and he did an excellent job. BHHS held its own invitational tourney and although we didn't win the final game and the trophy, the fans left the gym thinking they had seen one of the most exciting games of their lives and that Bunker Hill had given every effort possible.

In the season's opener at Rossville we ran into a buzz-saw and lost, but then the boys came back and defeated teams from Galveston, Akron, and Swayzee.

In a rebuilding year, BHHS split even in the won and lost columns although the competition was stronger than the previous year.

We all want to say "Well done" to the coach and the team.

The Minuteman played some stronger competition during the 1961-62 season. Some of the new teams on the schedule were the Monon and Carroll high schools. Both of these games were won by BHHS, but our team knew they had played two good ball games.

The boys took it on the chin when they traveled to Eastern, but it was just one of those nights when the other team could do nothing wrong. Against other TCC foes, such as Western and Northwestern, we came out on top at the final gun.

The Eighth Grade and Freshman teams had successful seasons this year. The Eighth Grade won thirteen and lost four, while the Frosh won ten and lost seven. Coach Hanna's primary concern is trying to find the players at an early age and then drilling them in the fundamentals so that they will be ready for competition when they become upper-classmen. Both of these teams won their own invitational tournaments, the Frosh defeating South Whitley and the Eighth Grade over whelming North Grove. The future looks bright if these boys keep up the hard work.

This year's sectional had more than the usual thrills. Against Akron, a team that had not won a game all year, BHHS won by a thin three points. Most of the fans were worried by this game, since Bunker Hill next had to play the tourney favorite, Peru.

Against Peru our team really showed the crowd that the Akron game was just a "bad one." Although beaten 58-55, everybody was proud of the team and coach, and as the local newspaper said later—Peru was lucky to get by Bunker Hill.

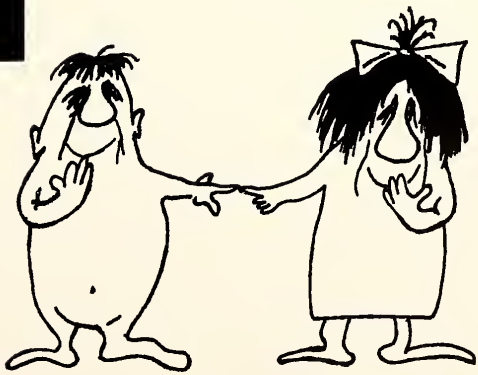
Our baseball team, like the other athletic teams, was a young squad. With a little more experience, the boys wouldn't have lost the Northwestern or the Fairmount games. Coach Hanna had his troubles with pitchers and sore arms last season, but the baseball team should be a strong contender for the Tri-County honors this summer.

People . . . People . . .

When the bell rings ending another class, the halls immediately begin to fill with all sizes and shapes of humanity. A person who wants evidence of the growth of BHHS only has to cast his eye on this picture to see for himself what is happening here.

The more students we have the more teachers we have, and the more ideas we have. This is necessary if we are to mature and have a broad outlook on education and life in general. We grow by our association with other people and their experiences. We feel that here at Bunker Hill High School we have as good a cross section of students and experiences as any school anywhere.

and More People



The People Who Keep the

It is no easy task to keep a school in operation. The many problems that arise are too much for one man to handle, and Bunker Hill High School is fortunate indeed to have three qualified men who can share the responsibility.

It takes a great amount of synchronization between Trustee, Superintendent, and principal for our school life to run smoothly. We students are always in contact with the principal, Mr. James Fulford, who day by day makes sure that our educational maturity is kept at its constant best. Nobody, teacher or student, will ever forget the "last of the day" announcements helping us to remember what is coming the next day. What we do not realize at times, however, is the time and thought behind these announcements.

Mr. Ray Geyer, the Superintendent, and Mr. Harold Wiebel, the Township Trustee, have had major roles in forming the plans for the next day, the next week, and the next year.

BHHS will never be able to forget these three men.

Wheels of Education Turning

Our Trustee, Mr. Wibel, has to discuss many school issues with the school board, Mr. John McKee, Mr. Arthur Hessong, and Mr. Albert York.

Mrs. Fisher, or Betty as most of us know her, not only is sympathetic to the individual student, but as Secretary handles all the correspondence from Mr. Fulford's desk, the lunch money, and the permanent records. How does she do all of it?

Senior Class Officers

Many important decisions have been made this year by Tania Bowyer, Richard Plothow, Glen Householder, Bonnie Marquis, and Becky White, the class officers, and Mr. Smith, the senior sponsor.

No matter what the activity or job might be, if a leader was needed, the seniors never failed to provide. One of the most active classes in Bunker Hill High School's history, the class of 1962 saw the introduction of football to the athletic program, the starting of an organized cheer block, and the presenting of the senior play "You Can't Take It With You."

Soon the seniors will be scattered all over the union, but they will not be forgotten for a long time.

The Class of 1963

The junior class enjoyed a wide variety of activities this year with Mr. Jankowski, their sponsor; and Ronald O'Connor, Joe Kines, Christine Tiefenthal, Linda Baker, and Steven Marquis, the class officers.

They sold magazines and operated the concession stand to bolster their treasury. The football games were not overlooked, as candy and pop were sold there also, rain or sunshine.

They have their class rings, gave their class play in April and sponsored the junior-senior prom.

The Class of 1964

Sophomores, under the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Davis, and the class officers, Billie Jo Carter, Phyllis Moy, Rosemari Garrison, Karen Bonewell, Daniel Musselwhite, Marcia Bevington, and Richard Schultz, have had a merry year.

They have chosen their class rings and are now eagerly looking forward to next year's activities which will include selling magazines and giving a class play.

Our Inexperienced Freshmen . . .

SPONSORS: Mrs. Wright and Mr. Cook. CLASS OFFICERS: Thorn Huffman, Daniel Young, Janet Diaz, Philip Wickerham, and Stephen Maugans.

The freshman class, looking forward to being upper classmen, has been busy with its first year in high school. Although they probably spend too much time in the halls talking, they managed to escape most of the seniors and their initiation attempts. They attended the freshman basketball games and walked off with the Halloween Carnival prize, a freshman queen.

The Eighth Grade Joins Us

SPONSORS: Miss Shady and Mr. Lemon. CLASS OFFICERS: Christine Young, John Comerford, Joann Cook, Robin Hamrick, Taylor Mitchell, and Jan Adkins.

The transition from grade school to high school is a great one. The new students, as eighth graders have had to learn how to study, how to find their way from one class to another in five minutes, and also how to live at the bottom of the social ladder at BHHS instead of at the top, where they had all been, in grade school. Thanks to the helping hands of Miss Shady and Mr. Lemon, they are now ready to take another step up.
